

RESTA WINS 250-MILE
RACE AT CHICAGO

(Republican A. P. Leased Wire)
CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Dario Resta captured the winner's share of the $11,000 grand American purse today and went into the lead in the season's competition for the 1916 American championship purse of $12,500 by winning the 250 mile automobile race here today. He failed by a small fraction to equal the new world's record of 164 miles an hour, established at the Astor Cup race at New York. Resta's time for the 250 miles was two hours, 24 minutes, 12.68 seconds, a rate of 103.9 miles an hour.

Johnny Aitken finished second, half a lap behind.

INDIANS WIN AND LOSE BASKETBALL

The Indian school basket ball team played two games yesterday afternoon, losing to Tempe High, and beating Glendale high. The games were both fast and full of spectacular basket shooting and team play.

The Indians lost the first game to Tempe, through lack of shooting. At that, the final score of Tempe 15 and Indians 12, showed that the Redskins in spite of the advantages in avoidance were able to hold their opponents down.

The second game was won through superior basket shooting on the part of the Indians. The Glendale outfit had it on them when it came to team play, but when it came to locating the basket, they might have as well been blind. The final score was Indians 24, Glendale 15.

MANY HUNTERS OUT
AFTER QUAIL TODAY

With the opening this morning of the quail season, the annual crop of hunters after this elusive but succulent bird will once more fare forth. The inquiries about scatter guns yesterday was something terrific, and it seemed that every chap with ability to hit a flock of barns has set his heart on bringing in a limit bag today.

It is said that quail are more numerous this year than last, and that means a good deal, for they were thick as blackbirds in some of the well known quail country. The mesquites along the Verde near its mouth are said to be alive with the crested game birds, while the rocky draws of every chain of hills has its share of feathered population.

HALF THOUSAND NAMES ADDED

There are certainly not less than 500 qualified voters in Phoenix this morning that would have failed to show on election day, had it not been for the special registration work of the past two days under the auspices of the republican county central committee. Their operations were conducted from the headquarters of the Hughes Alliance which was placed at their disposal with all facilities for securing unregistered names and routing special autos equipped with registering officers and committeemen, who were mostly committeemen.

To get right down to the facts, most of the credit should be given to the republican women, chiefly members of the woman's republican league. For a couple of weeks past, they have been engaged in gathering the names and addresses of unregistered persons, particularly women, without regard to their political preferences, and yesterday and Friday, they "manned" the automobiles and led the registering officers to their quarry. Something like 250 names were listed at the start.

Many more were telephoned in and many added new ones were picked up, afield and registered.

Some of the women did not stop their work until long after dark, but when they did quit every name submitted had been registered or the reason discovered, except a very few which were reported at a late hour and were informed that they would have to report at the county recorder's office to secure registration, that office remaining open until midnight to accommodate the delinquents.

Undoubtedly there are yet quite a number, perhaps a hundred, qualified voters in the city, who slept on their rights and will regret it when election day comes, but all who could be located were rounded up—and the rounding was chiefly done by republican women, whether democrats or republicans.

It might seem like poor politics for republicans to be so insistent on registering democrats, but it is hard to tell what a democrat will do this year and the republicans are willing to take a chance on converting the registered democrats, at least to the voting of a partial republican ticket. They see no reason why even the democrats should not vote for Hughes and the republican state officers.

Just how many were registered at the recorder's office yesterday could not be learned last night, but it is known that the people stood in line all day, so that the total of yesterday's work must run up into the hundreds. But the careless voter, who would not look out for his own interests, owes most to the republican organization, and especially the woman's part of it, regardless of his politics.

DIPLODOCUS FAILS TO INTEREST ALEX

During one of the visits of the Phila to Pittsburgh Scoops Carey took Grover Alexander for an auto ride with the intention of showing the pitcher some of the great sights in the neighborhood of Schenley park. As soon as the car started, Alex began to discuss the hitting abilities and weakness of various National leaguers. In passing the Carnegie Institute, Carey interrupted Alex to tell him of the Diplodocus and other wonders of the museum.

Alex nodded his head to signify he had heard and came back with: "Lake Dismal is one of the best bunters in baseball, but if you give him a loaf fast one on the outside he can't lay it down."

Passing Carnegie Tech, Carey pointed out something of particular interest, but the only reply he got from Alex was: "Keep a high curve on the outside to Larry Doyle and he will pop up." "I tried every way to get him interested on the trip, but all he would talk was baseball," said Carey in explaining the incident.

DRESS UP

Copyright Hart Schaffner & Marx

"Where one fellow reads a stranger's character in his face, a hundred read it in his get-up."

—The Self-Made Merchant.

If any of you solid business men think that this "Dress Up" idea isn't important, we ask you to answer this one question: How many of the people you deal with in business know you intimately? The largest percentage are strangers, aren't they?

They can't know the real "you," you haven't time to get that well acquainted. The Self-Made Merchant is right; most people are compelled to form their opinion of you from your appearance.

Your clothes point out the measure of your success. To look successful, you must be well dressed; and to be successful, you must make every dollar you spend return its utmost in value.

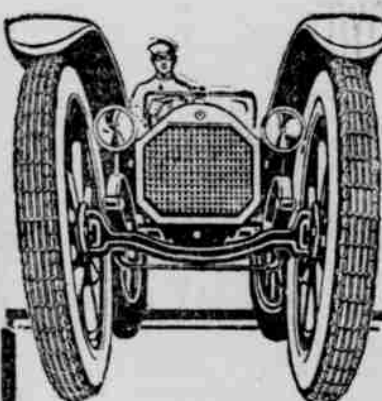

Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes are the kind worn by men who look successful and who are successful.

A Hart Schaffner & Marx suit or overcoat will keep you "dressed up" longer than any other clothes you can buy—and for less money. Better get your new outfit now while the "dressing-up" is good.

We Fix Your Tires to Last

How many times have you had tires fixed, only to have them "give out" on the very first trip? Our up-to-the-minute vulcanizing outfit, the most complete in the city, enables us to fix blow-outs and weak spots in a way that usually makes them stronger than the rest of the tire.

Poor repair work on tires is ultimately the most expensive. Unless the weak spot is properly strengthened there is likely to be another blow-out soon that may ruin the tire completely. "A stitch in time" and well taken saves much in tire upkeep.
